

Atlas Living
building your vision

We are pleased to announce that Atlas living now offers a full architectural design service for your project...

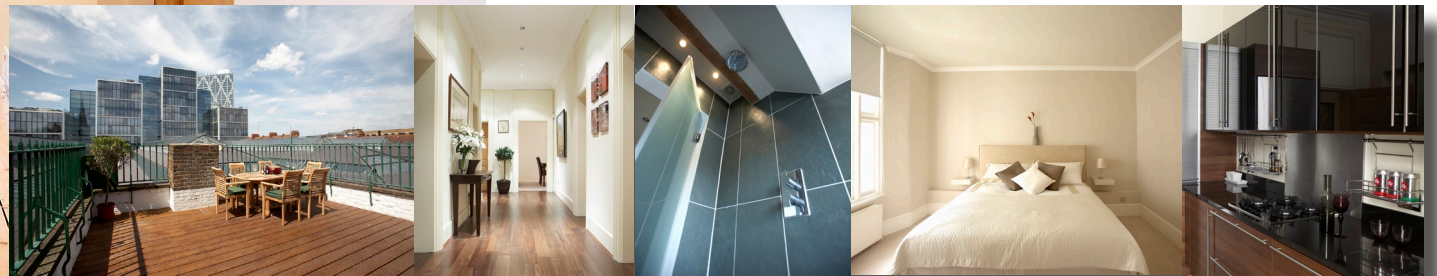

Our RIBA-qualified in house architect can work with you from the initial design process, through technical design and finally overseeing your building works. Working closely with your project manager, you can be sure that you are getting the very best advice at every project stage to ensure that your project will be designed and delivered on time and to budget.

For a limited time only, we are offering initial consultation and concept design half price!

We understand the importance of preparing properly before a project begins. At your initial consultation, we will discuss your ideas, your requirements and survey your property. After your consultation we will present you with a concept design plan based on your discussions, as well as an indicative budget and estimated programme of works. All within the week!

We look forward to hearing from you.
